FOSS – please do get in touch if you would like to help the FOSS team. They are always looking for volunteers.

This week we celebrate the wonderful Wrens who have successfully navigated their first week of staying for lunch and also lunch play including a wet play session. They have been brilliant and I know all of the team around them are really proud of the way they have managed this big step. We look forward to having them with us full time in school next week. I hope that the stay and play was useful to meet other parents this afternoon and we look forward to welcoming Wrens' parents for the information session on Tuesday.

I am delighted to report that Semley Dads' team were successful at the Wardour v Semley cricket match last Friday. Well done to all those who played and thank you so much to all the parents who gave up their time to organise this event, I'm so grateful. I hope those of you who attended enjoyed it and congratulations team!

This week in the classrooms there has been an air of much industry as the curriculums are now in full swing. The children are navigating their new group work for different subjects and settling well to their learning. Wrens are busy working on their routines and structures it was a pleasure to spend time in there this week. Robins have also been busy establishing routines and their writing has been focussed on family, pets and hobbies. Doves have been thinking about which of our positive attributes we can offer: kindness, generosity etc. They are building a tower using words as bricks in class - to be continued - probably over the whole half term while they also develop their publishing skills! Doves have also started their Ancient Greek topic by learning where in the world Greece is and enjoyed writing a description of Paddington's treehouse. In Owls this week an ancient Egyptian tomb was discovered in Owls' Classroom on Monday morning! The Owls enjoyed discovering what lay inside – a sneak peak into our Ancient Egyptian topic this term. Linking with our assembly about the lunar eclipse Kites have been looking at light and how it travels.

Overall, a busy week! We hope that you have a lovely weekend and look forward to seeing the children back safe and sound on Monday.
